Construction to rebuild Gowen Road near I-84 begins Sunday night (Jan. 25)

January 23, 2015

On Sunday night (Jan. 25), traffic will be shifted to create a work zone for rebuilding Gowen Road between Eisenman Road and Federal Way.

Motorists will use temporary pavement on the north for several months as crews rebuild the south side of Gowen Road.

- The eastbound I-84 off-ramp will be closed Sunday night from 7 p.m. to 5 a.m.
- The designated left-turn lane on Eisenman Road coming out of the Chevron station will be closed for approximately two weeks.
- Click here for a map of traffic impacts.

Over the next year, Gowen Road will be widened to two through lanes in both directions, and a third lane will be added on the eastbound side of Gowen Road. The lanes will be wider than the existing lanes, and sidewalk, curb and bicycle lanes will be added.
