MARSING - The Idaho Transportation Department (ITD) will resume repaving on U.S. Highway 95 between the Port of Entry and its junction with State Highway 55 west of Marsing. Work will improve and extend the life of the roadway. Construction will begin Monday and is expected to finish this summer.

During construction motorists can expect:

- Daytime and nighttime work.
- A temporary signal or a pilot car guiding traffic through the construction zone.
- Wait times of around 15 minutes.

ITD began construction on US-95 in July 2023 and completed repaving from the Oregon state line to the Port of Entry. As a part of the project, ITD also:
