ITD and ISP to host winter driving class in Lewiston

LEWISTON - The Idaho Transportation Department (ITD), Idaho State Police (ISP) are teaming up to provide free, informative and engaging winter driving safety class as the region prepares for icy roads and adverse weather.

While these courses are beneficial for drivers of all ages and skill levels, they are especially geared to young drivers and anyone new to the area who may be preparing for their first winter driving season.

The course will be taught by ISP Troopers and ITD Operators, covering a wide range of topics from proper vehicle preparation, equipment, road conditions, driving tips, crashes, and snowplow safety.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20

3:00 – 4:30 PM

A Neil DeAtley Career Technical Education Center

3201 Cecil Andrus Way

Lewiston, ID 83501

Seating is limited and classes are filling up quickly! Attendees should register online-click here. Additional courses may be scheduled at a later date.
