1) Submitted documentation and drawings appear to indicate that no electrical work is to be done.
2) If electrical work is required during the construction process, permits and inspections will be required. Final approval for any electrical work done during the construction process will be by on-site electrical inspections to field verify compliance with the 2017 National Electrical Code and local codes as adopted.
This is not a building permit.