Sometimes you get only an Alpha Numeric challenge that you must enter into the box provided, sometimes it's a visual challenge followed by the Alpha Numeric. Once you successfully pass those challenges, you click the "Download to Excel" button. We suggest that you also check the "Include Commodity Codes" in the download. This will include each firm's approved North American Industrial Classification System (NAICS) Codes, which reflect the types of work they were certified to perform.

Save this download as an Excel spreadsheet. You are now free to manipulate or filter the data any way you like, or simply view it as is.

Selection of any combination below will find firms that have at least one assigned work district/region match.

Search by Reference

Work Category

The broadest two categories of firms consist of "DBEs" and "ACDBEs". ACDBEs are firms which specifically provide airport passenger services, such as food vendors and gift shops. Unless you're an airport planner or concessionaire, you probably should leave "ACDBE" unchecked.

When searching for a specific firm, don't be too exact in punctuation or business type. "Idaho State Engineer" is more likely to be a successful search term than "Idaho State Engineering, Inc."

Only one key word can be searched at a time. Again, parts of words are more effective than full words, such as "excav" instead of "excavation" or "excavating", or "dump" instead of "belly dump".

"Work Districts/Regions" do not reflect where a firm is located, but where the firm is willing to bid or propose. A northern Idaho firm may be happy to work in southeastern Idaho.

Another broad category consists of the firms' work categories. For instance, you may choose "Consulting", or any combination, such as "Construction" and "Supplier".

"Commodity Codes" mean NAICS Codes. To search by NAICS Codes:

- 1) Enter a general search term, and click the "Search" button right next to it.
- 2) In this case, we want 561990, "Flagging (i.e., traffic control) services." Click the "Add" button next to it.
- 3) Then the "Finished" button.

*Note that some NAICS Codes serve for a broad miscellany of professions. 561990 also covers "Gas meter reading services", "Diving Services on a Contract Basis" and many other professions. Therefore, all gas meter-reading, diving service DBEs will come up on this search as well as the traffic control DBEs. Always take a peak at the business descriptions in the results.
